

Document Repository

Custom Computing's Document Repository is an integrated electronic-filing warehouse that digitally stores, indexes and manages reports via a secure and personalized web-based interface so you can access the information at anytime, from anywhere through a secure web connection.

Now you can download, save and print digital files remotely—from any computer or location. Wherever you are, this innovative technology lets you access your clinic's report files, find and view the file you need, then either save it to your computer or send it to another destination. It's as simple as emailing family photos.

- Work from anywhere without ever losing contact with your office
- Access the most recent appointment and scheduling changes
- Digital file storage saves your clinic and staff time, space and headaches
- View over 200 standard reports

Access any report, anytime, from anywhere.

Powerful indexing tools let you find specific reports faster by offering a wider spectrum of search criteria, including Name, Title, Creator, Date Created, Date Modified, Document Type, ID and Category searches. Digital storage not only saves time and space for your clinic, it puts your reports, histories and documentation where you can retrieve them at all times. What's more—files are stored as universally accepted Adobe Acrobat (.pdf) format—which makes accessing, sharing & sending reports virtually painless.
